Soviet Leader Taunts West

Asserts Russia Outdistances United States on All Fronts

MOSCOW (AP)—Kikita Khrushchev opened the Bolshevik Revolution 40th anniversary publie today with taunts at the West over Russia's Sputniks and a call for a new high-level East-West meeting.

The Soviet party boss, while suggesting an understanding with the United States on disarmament, denounced what he called Western imperialism. He renewed a charge that the United States was inciting Israel and Turkey and plotting against Syria.

UN Ignores Red Threat Of Boycott

Political Committee Calls for New Round Of Disarmament Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Political Committee today ignored a threatened Soviet boycott and called for a new round of private disarmament talks.

The action was taken despite widespread misgivings that the U. N. was headed toward a complete breakdown of almost ten years of disarmament negotiations.

India had tried to avert what it called this "tragic" situation by seeking a last minute compromise or perhaps a postponement of the vote on controversial resolutions. But both Russia and the West stood firm.

The key vote was on a 24-nation resolution which called for quick resumption of talks in the U.N.'s five-member disarmament subcommittee on the basis of the latest Western proposals.

This was approved by a vote of 56 for, 9 (Soviet bloc) against and 16 abstaining.

The resolution now goes to the General Assembly where final approval seemed assured. The majority in the committee was well above the two-thirds majority required in the Assembly.

That Same Light Is Causing Fits Across Missouri

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A bright object, variously described as a football, a "brilliant five-point star" and the planet Venus, was reported in the St. Louis area yesterday.

Reports of the unidentified flying object matched other reports of unidentified phenomena in different sections of the United States.

St. Louis reports began trickling in at sundown.

A suburban Lemay woman said she saw an object in the sky that was "brighter than a star." It was circular, glowing and blue, the woman stated.

Another observer in suburban Overland said he saw the same object in the northwest sky. "It looked like a headlight shining toward you."

In East St. Louis, Ill., police received 10 reports of the mystery object. Three East St. Louis firemen said it looked like a "giant big star" that changed shape and had a blue-green halo.

Other reports said the object glowed red, not blue.

Sixty miles to the southwest at Flat River, Mo., several residents reported a mystery object passed overhead between 7 and 8 p.m.

They described it as shaped like a football. One Flat River man said his television set became garbled and the sound went off but the picture stayed on.

Eighth Bomb Scare In 3 Months, Causes Theatre Evacuation

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The eighth bomb scare in three months caused 2,590 persons to be evacuated from a movie theater in St. Louis last night.

The Fox Theater received a telephone call saying that a bomb had been planted in the huge theater.

A theater spokesman said the caller sounded like a young person.

The patrons fled out of the theater without incident while police searched fruitlessly for a

"Our people have never thought and do not think to use any means of destruction if our country is not subjected to attack by imperialist states," he said.

The Soviet Union, he asserted, was out - distancing the United States on all fronts — scientific, economic, agricultural and industrial.

"That's the kind of friendly competition we want — not armament races," he said.

Practically the entire leadership of the Communist world heard the party chief at a joint session of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) in the giant Sports Palace.

About 17,000 delegates and guests applauded the 3-hour and 7-minute speech. There were delegations from every Communist country and from Communist parties in most of the world.

Receiving the second biggest ovation was the Red China chief, Mao Tse-tung — whose nation, Khrushchev said, will become a "mighty industrial power" in the not distant future.

Mao, who followed Khrushchev to the rostrum, declared communism will win out over capitalism inevitably, "independent of men's will."

He gave personal support to Khrushchev's downgrading of Stalin, the ouster of Georgi Zhukov and the purge of "anti-party" elements including V. M. Molotov. Mao said these "wise measures" will lead to further progress.

Khrushchev spoofed the United States for naming its satellite project "Vanguard."

"The name alone suggested that they expected to be first," he said. "But it turned out that the Soviet Union was first."

"Now our Sputniks are going around and around the world waiting for the American Sputniks to come up and join them."

Says Ike Won't Visit Britain During Trip

LONDON (AP)—The authoritative Press Assn. said today President Eisenhower will not pay a state visit to Britain when he comes to Europe Dec. 16 because of what it described as the illness of Mrs. Eisenhower.

The dispatch said the President intends to return the Queen's visit at a later date.

Mrs. Eisenhower recently underwent an operation. It was understood in Britain that air travel would not be good for her at this time.

'Another Saucer Scare'

Astronomer Blames Mystery on Mirages

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Harvard astronomer says mysterious objects reported from various parts of the country and the Gulf of Mexico are mirages stemming from natural causes.

Dr. Donald H. Menzel, director of the Harvard College of Observatory, said yesterday in Cambridge, Mass., that the whole thing amounts to "another flying saucer scare."

The Air Force has started an investigation of the reported sightings of the strange glowing objects in the sky. The Air Force for years has had the responsibility of checking reports of unidentified flying objects.

A rash of such reports had developed since Sunday, with some of the sightings said to have been made near secret military installations in the Southwest. Some of the persons making the reports said the objects caused their auto engines to stall and their radios to fade.

Army Orders Another Cut In Troops

Will Reduce Number Now on Integration Duty in Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced today another heavy cut in the number of troops and 7-minute speech. There were delegations from every Communist country and from Communist parties in most of the world.

Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said the decision to reduce the troop contingent there was based on "the steady improvement in community stability noted currently in Little Rock."

The Army said this second round of troop reductions will be carried out "forthwith," and that thereafter 225 troops of the first battalion of the 101st Airborne Division will remain. There are now about 500 regular army soldiers in the Little Rock area.

The reduction also will apply to federalized National Guard units. The 153rd Infantry Regiment of the Guard, now totaling about 1,800 on duty, will be reduced to about 900.

The Army started out with something over 1,000 regular troops in Little Rock. At the same time they were ordered in by President Eisenhower on Sept. 24, 10,500 National Guardsmen were ordered into federal service.

Eisenhower said he acted to assure the carrying out of federal court orders for the racial integration of Little Rock's Central High School.

With Cabinet Status

Rep. Christopher Proposes Separate Agency on Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Christopher (D-Mo) proposed today creation of a separate agency to speed the nation's guided missile and satellite program.

The agency's director would have the status of a cabinet officer and report directly to the President.

The agency would go to Congress for whatever funds it could justify to speed the program, Christopher said, adding in an interview:

"I think Congress would give it the necessary money."

"We should pay our scientists more money, give such an agency or the Defense Department, if a separate commission is not created, all the money it needs to spend and get away from the rivalry in the different branches of the armed services."

Chamber Will Hold Banquet Thursday Nite

The annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet will be held at 6:30 Thursday night at the Smith-Cotton with one of the most outstanding speakers in the country. He is Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, former minister of finance of Hungary and is now director of the Institute of International Studies at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill.

All tickets have been sold, the limit of 600 being completely gone by Tuesday noon. The only way tickets could possibly be obtained now would be that a few may be returned to the Chamber by persons who have purchased them earlier and because of illness or other reasons find they will not be able to attend.

This year, also, brought the most loot for the loot bags with several nice gifts added to the usual items of previous years. The greatest number of contributors of any year since the loot bag idea started for the Chamber banquets, have helped to make the loot bag fuller than ever for Thursday night. Boxes of all kinds have been piling up in the Chamber office for the past several days with Wednesday being a busy time, boxes coming in the back door and boxes coming in the front door. Sometimes stacked up so high you couldn't even see the person carrying them. So it looks like this is going to be a real occasion for Chamber of Commerce members, with everything bigger and better than ever.

Jeff City Does It--And How!

JEFFERSON CITY, (AP)—Two bond issues for street and highway improvements and parking were approved by margins of almost 4 to 1 Tuesday in one of the biggest turnouts of voters for a bond election in Jefferson City's history.

The proposal totaled $2,975,000.

Proposition No. 1 carried by a vote of 4,580 to 1,705. It included $1,300,000 for the city's one-half share in the cost of right-of-way for through highways; $600,000 for widening streets, and $325,000 for improving and extending streets.

Proposition No. 2 passed 4,362 to 1,799, was for a $750,000 bond issue to provide off-street parking.

A two-thirds majority was required.

Announces Successful Firing of Two Talos Missiles at Target

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N.M. (AP)—The Navy says two types of its Talos missile were fired successfully against airborne targets yesterday.

One, designed to carry an explosive warhead, was fired at a B-17 radio-controlled bomber flying at "medium altitude far down-range."

The second was designed to carry a nuclear warhead and was fired at an F-80 radio-controlled fighter plane.

Neither carried warheads, but officials said tracking equipment showed the missiles came close enough to have scored hits.

The firings were the first successful Talos launchings since a booster on one failed soon after takeoff in its first public demonstration Oct. 15.

Proposed Municipal Center Building Short of Majority

Sedalia's voters failed to provide a two-third majority on two bond proposals totalling $1,150,000 at a special election held Tuesday. The two proposals were for $1,000,000 for a municipal center building and the other for $150,000 for two new fire stations.

A total of 4,208 votes were tabulated in which the voters displayed a great difference of opinion on the two proposals in defeat.

The vote for the municipal center building fell short of even a simple majority. The proposal lost 1,999 for and 2,195 against.

On the other hand voters on the $150,000 proposal fell short by a fraction of the necessary two-thirds majority necessary to carry. It had a good simple majority of 2,754 for and 1,454 against.

City Clerk W. C. Ream reported there are 48 absentee ballots out, far from being enough even to carry the fire station proposal should each vote be in favor of it. The vote necessary to have put the issue over fell short by 155 votes, not including the absentees. It was pointed out the shortage in percentage was .56, the issue majority being 65.44 and it was necessary to have 66 per cent to carry.

The only precinct to give the million-dollar issue a two-thirds or better vote was at Hubbard High School, the first precinct of the second ward where the vote was 82 for and 37 against. Five other precincts carried a simple majority, or ten out of the 16 voted against it.

On the fire station proposal the precinct at 809 South Limit, the second precinct of the fourth ward, was the strongest, it giving the proposition far better than a two-thirds majority, it being 245 for and 57 against. There were six precincts who gave the proposition a two-thirds majority.

All other 16 precincts gave a simple majority for the issue, but enough "againers" voted to slash down the possible two-thirds majority.

Segregationists Lose Election In Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A slate of candidates, lukewarm on the racial issue, yesterday captured six out of seven Little Rock city director positions over segregationist opponents on the basis of complete but unofficial returns.

The slate had been backed by the Good Government Committee, a group which had initiated the fight to change from the mayor-council to the city manager form of government months before the racial integration crisis at Little Rock Central High.

Only one of seven candidates backed by the Capital Citizens Council was successful. Three of the races were not decided until the final box was tabulated early today.

Predominantly Negro precincts cast overwhelming majorities for the GGC group.

MKT Will Abandon New Franklin-Moberly Passenger Service

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Passenger service on the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad's branch line between New Franklin and Moberly is going to be abandoned and the freight service will be cut down.

S. L. McClintock, a member of the Missouri Public Service Commission, said today the protesting towns along the line, including Fayette and Higbee, have agreed to let the Katy do away with its remaining passenger service and cut freight service to a tri-weekly basis, instead of daily except Sunday.

Under the plan, passengers no longer will be permitted to ride in the caboose as they previously did.

McClintock said the agreement would make it unnecessary to have a second hearing on the Katy's application. It had been set for Nov. 25.

He said a formal order would be prepared soon, following the lines of the agreement.

Still pending is Katy's application to do away with its last remaining trains between St. Louis and Parsons, Kan.

Study Merger Of MoPac, Texas Line

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A proposed merger of the Missouri Pacific and Texas & Pacific railroads was under study today.

If the two lines merge, it would create the eighth largest railroad in the nation, revenue-wise, and the third largest, mileage-wise.

The merger study was announced yesterday by Mo Pac President Russell L. Dearthmont. He said it would take until next April or May for the six-man merger committee to make a decision.

The possible consolidation was revealed four days after a similar study on a possible merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads.

"We are primarily interested," Dearthmont said, "in what savings can be made in operations and accounting and the effect of a merger on traffic."

On the basis of 1956 revenues, a MoPac and Texas & Pacific merger would bring annual revenues of nearly $385,900,000.

Before the merger could be completed, approval is necessary from the Interstate Commerce Commission and the stockholders of both railroads.

MoPac already owns a controlling interest in Texas & Pacific and has been buying more stock since MoPac emerged from bankruptcy in March 1956.

St. Louis railroad officials said the merger could be accomplished more easily than most pending consolidations because it would be "an end to end" merger.

"It would not involve two carriers competing for business in the same area, the officials stated.

Texas & Pacific operates 1,831 miles of line in Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas. Its main line runs from El Paso, to Texarkana and New Orleans.

Scott County Voters Approve Bond Issue

SIKESTON, Mo. (AP)—Voters in Scott County School District R-5 which includes a rural area north of Sikeston, have approved a $335,000 bond issue for a new high school.

The unofficial vote in the special election yesterday was 252 in favor and 99 against—just 18 votes over the required two-thirds majority. School officials expressed confidence the unofficial count would stand up.

The new high school would be built on a 20-acre tract and would replace small high schools at Morley and Wvanderus, which would be converted into grade schools.

The new high school would accommodate 300 pupils and serve the communities of Morley, Vanduser, Crowder, Lenox and Sand Prairie.

Star of Opera

Nadine Conner to Be Guest Artist at Symphony Concert

Lovely Metropolitan Opera soprano Nadine Conner continues to make more friends, not only around the world, but all around the world. She is a favorite at the opera, on the concert stage and with radio and television audiences and she will be at Smith-Cotton High School auditorium on Nov. 9.

A favorite soloist with symphony orchestras, Miss Conner will again appear during the 1957-58 season, with orchestras across the country. As guest artist with the Cincinnati Summer Opera for the past two seasons, she appeared in "Rigoletto," "La Boheme," "Traviata" and "Faust."

Last season her concert tour was one of the longest she has ever made. She was guest artist of the Greater Opera Guild of Miami, the Northwest Grand Opera and the Cosmopolitan Opera. In addition to her regular leading roles at the Metropolitan Opera, she sang two new major roles; Marguerite in "Faust" and Antonia in "Tales of Hoffman."

A frequent performer on "The Voice of Firestone," one of Miss Conner's most successful TV appearances was in General Electric's telecast of Stephen Vincent Benet's "A Child Is Born." She gave a poignant performance as the innkeeper's wife, acting as beautifully as she sang. Through this appearance, she made millions of friends.

Even her vacations turn out to be more than simple rest. A couple of years ago when she went with her husband, Dr. Laurence Heacock, and their two adopted children on a trip around the world, the State Department could not bear to see all that gracious good will go to waste! So Nadine Conner was persuaded to give some concerts along the way, notably in Athens with the National Symphony of Greece, and in Honolulu.

The regard which the world's leading opera house holds for the lovely soprano star was indicated when she was chosen to sing the leading feminine role in the Metropolitan Opera's much heralded revival of Debussy's "Pelleas et Melisande" in the 1953-54 season. The previous season she had been chosen to sing Mimi in the new English-language production of "La Boheme," which had its world-premiere at a broadcast matinee from the Metropolitan stage, commanding the attention of the largest opera audience in the world.

Miss Conner has been with the

Nadine Conner

Metropolitan ever since her debut three days before Christmas, 1941, interspersing her schedule there with engagements with such opera companies as those of San Francisco, New Orleans, Cincinnati, San Antonio, Pittsburgh, Mexico City, and Havana. Her repertoire includes the leading lyric roles in "Traviata," "Boheme," "Faust," "Rosenkavalier," "Don Giovanni," "The Marriage of Figaro," "Carmen," and "Hansel and Gretel," and such is the versatility of her voice that she has also been starred in the difficult coloratura roles of "Rigoletto" and "The Barber of Seville." In recital and as soloist with leading symphony orchestras, she has received cross-country acclaim in this nation, Canada, Hawaii, and the West Indies. Radio and TV fans know her from frequent appearances on "The Railroad Hour" and "The Voice of Firestone," among other programs, and her recording of operatic and lighter music for Columbia Masterworks Records are favorites. During the summer of 1953, she visited Europe for the first time, where she was guest star at the Holland Festival, singing in six gala performances the role of Susanna in "Figaro." In the summer of 1954 she sang in the first opera performances at the University of Puerto Rico in San Juan.

Miss Conner has had more to do with the recent costume revolution in opera than anyone else. Recently she was voted the best-dressed woman in the opera world by the Fashion Institute. She believes costumes should be designed for the individual personality and takes time to study costume design. A few years ago she worked with Howard Shoup, ace Hollywood dress and costume designer, and with him designed her own individual costumes for all the roles she sings.

In 1939 Miss Conner was married to Dr. Laurence Heacock, a surgeon from her home town, Compton, Calif. They have adopted two children, Loren David, age 9, and Sue Lynn, age 11. A devoted wife and mother, although her career keeps her away from home almost half the year, she

Has World Community Day Program

"They who need our help are numbered millions. They live on today's Jericho Road. A pair of shoes for a small Korean boy, seed grain for a farmer in Austria, or a layette for an expectant mother in Hungary. They need help. You can give help by participating in one of the World Service projects." This was the theme of the address by Mrs. J. K. Braun, St. Louis, at the observance of World Community Day Friday, Nov. 1, at Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church (United Church of Christ). Mrs. Braun was introduced by Mrs. Ed Sutherland.

Mrs. Braun was one of a group who spent a month in Germany as guests of the West German government. She told of some of her experiences and her visit to a refugee camp. "In Europe, Asia and the Near East there are hundreds of thousands who have been refugees for years. What little clothing they brought with them has long since worn out. The 'Parcels for Peace' have filled a real need and have been a blessing to many thousands along today's Jericho Road."

Church World Service not only helps to feed and clothe, but helps the people to help themselves.

Church World Service embraces the whole world and through you is the Good Samaritan on the road to Jericho today, concluded the speaker.

The worship service was led by Mrs. Fred Rose, assisted by Mrs. Eleanor Green and Mrs. Luther Landis.

A choir composed of members of churches of affiliated churches, directed by Mrs. M. O. Stevens, led the singing of hymns. Mrs. Burris Carter was the organist.

Mrs. Sam Cooper led the dedication of offering and gifts. Special music was sung by a quartet composed of Mrs. Dorothy Kemp, Mrs. Christine Brane, Edgar Jones and Joseph P. Brane, during the dedication.

Ushers were: Mrs. James McNeal, Mrs. Mary Williams, Mrs. Tom Moffat and Mrs. J. S. Schumacker.

The benediction was given by the Rev. Armin Klemme.

spends her summers being very housewife indeed, rearranging the furniture, baking and cooking the kind of meals that must be marinated all night and simmered all day. She gets a kind of satisfaction from this kind of food after portraying half-starved heroines all winter.

Her auburn head may often be seen tilted to inspect one of the paintings she likes to try her hand at for relaxation and there is a certain gleam in her hazel eyes when she thinks she has done well with brush and palette. She keeps tropical fish for pets, loves to tramp into the Sierras and fish in a mountain stream. Former Sedalian Is Speaker At Sorosis Club Meeting

A former Sedalia girl, Miss Patsy Rissler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rissler, 711 West Fourth, was the speaker at Sorosis Monday afternoon, taking for her subject: "Highways in the Sky."

Miss Rissler is with the Aeronautical Chart and Information Center in St. Louis, and gave a most interesting talk on her work, followed by a film which told the story of chart making.

The purpose of ACIC, Miss Rissler said, is to provide the Air Force with aeronautical charts, graphic air target material, aeronautical information, publications, maps, terrain models, evaluated intelligence on air facilities and related cartographic service.

To give you an idea of the variety of professions involved in this work, Miss Rissler said, employed by the center are topographers, cartographers, artists, draftsmen, librarians, engineers, geodesists, geologists, geographers, mathematicians, photogrammetrists, linguists, photographers, carpenters, electricians, lithographers and others.

The production and distribution plant is the central production activity of ACIC, Miss Rissler told the group. The principal elements of the P and D plant are: 1, chart and research division which selects and maintains an analyzed and evaluated collection of charting some material as well as geodetic and geophysical later required for cartographic production programs; 2, photogrammetry division which employs many different photogrammetric methods in converting aerial photography into charts; 3, aeronautical information division, which compiles aeronautical data and information publications for all areas; 4, cartography division which finalizes all new cartographic compilation, revises and maintains existing charts, performs the drafting and engraving on all charts for private reproduction; 5, reproduction division which does the printing of charts and publications; 6, distributing division which stores, packages and ships charts and publications to points throughout the world.

The movie shown by Miss Rissler was made at the Aeronautical Chart and Information Center and was very cleverly presented as if the chart itself was speaking, telling that it is a product of the times, of the dreams and the first began to explore unknown places it often lied and took them somewhere else, getting them lost. But now men can depend on the charts because they are perfect in every detail. Surveys are made with precision, and the charts are to the aircraft what the bomb-sight is to the bombardier.

The film went on to show how the pictures were taken for the making of the charts, the plane that even has a darkroom, the taking of pictures of the ground below with three different cameras at different angles to get in the territory as it is, and then these photographs are sent back to the center where the single photographs are combined, the chart is made on paper, the constant changes of the earth are made, the paper is then made into a copy on steel, there is continuous adding by hand, charts are made in all tongues of the earth and aeronautical information on all facilities all over the world are put down.

The first charts were drawn by hand, more than 2,000 years ago. Today the reproductions of the charts after all phases of the work is completed, are put on lithograph metal, and the best paper in the world is used for printing the charts so that they may survive sea water for at least two days. There are charts for every

Mother and Children Die When Fire Takes Home, Others Escape

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. — A mother and four of her children died early today in a fire that swept their home. Five other members of the family escaped, one with a broken leg.

The bodies of the mother, Margaret Dacey, 47, and Michael, 19, Robert, 6, Patricia, 12, and Mary Lou, 7, were found lying near bedroom windows. The mother was in one room, the children in another.

Three sons, William, 17, James, 15, and Thomas, 10, leaped from a second-floor window. Another daughter, Margaret, 16, fled down a rear stairway.

Mrs. Dacey's husband, J. Stewart Dacey, 47, was in a dazed condition and could not explain how he escaped. He caught James and Thomas as they jumped.

William landed on the ground and suffered a broken leg.

Dacey's brother, the Rev. Michael Dacey, administered the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church, to his sister-in-law, nieces and nephews.

British Turbojet Crashes on Test Trip

BRISTOL, England (AP)—A turbojet Britannia airliner, pride of Britain's commercial aviation, crashed in flames today on a test flight killing all 15 aboard.

The big four-engine plane took off from the Bristol Aviation Co. field and plummeted into a belt of woods near the plant.

The plane, the first prototype of the "Mark 300" Britannia series, carried crewmen and technicians. It had been used for tests since it was turned out by the Bristol plant last year.

Gambling is not permitted in St. Louis. But, you can cross the Mississippi River into Illinois and there lay down a buck or two on which nag might not come in. Trip is 20 minutes.

Small-room sofa hides a twin-bed size mattress which can be used as guest bed or, as shown here, covered with decorative spread to provide extra seating. Storage chest is painted pale gray to match walls. Precise provincial pattern of curtains is repeated in matching wallpaper covering log in wall. Floor is linoleum in stone pattern; rug, multi-colored fiber.

Tricks Help Dual-Purpose Room Appear to Be Larger

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

A room that's attractively dual-purpose is almost a necessity in small quarters. Yet sometimes the little chunk of floor space available seems scarcely large enough to serve even one purpose.

If you want to include guestroom facilities in living room or den, for example, the first problem is what kind of sleeping equipment to have and where to put it. Standard-sized sofa-bed combinations may be too big to squeeze into the space. Studio couch arrangements gobble up precious wall space which might be needed for storage chests.

Designed to meet this dilemma are small-scale combinations. These measure about 40 inches overall and can seat a slim, compatible couple when closed. Under the trimly upholstered exterior is a standard 33-inch mattress which unfolds to make a comfortable bed for one.

Because of its size, one of these seats can be used in a free-standing arrangement much like an ordinary chair or loveseat. Many young homemakers put it to another use by covering the opened-out mattress with a decorative spread, to provide extra seating space when they entertain.

Styling of such combinations is basic and simple. Depending on choice of upholstery, it will blend with either contemporary or provincial surroundings.

Furnishings for any small room which will be used more or less around the clock must be carefully planned. Otherwise it will look overstuffed.

In the case of young apartment dwellers, such furnishings must also be planned with an eye to future uses and present budgets. One way to minimize the bulk of storage chests in limited space is to paint them the same color as the walls. Solidly built, ready-to-paint chests and open shelf units are not expensive. And they lend themselves to flexible arrangements and changes in color schemes. Basic designs in these units don't change much, so additions fit into the lineup without looking out of key.

A much-used small room lends itself to informal treatment, soft, light-toned color schemes and small, precise patterns.

One room I saw treated this way added to the illusion of more space and openness with a grayed, random-stone, patterned linoleum on the floor. A multi-colored fiber rug covering part of the floor picked up the soft blue-green shades of the upholstery and curtain fabric.

New Premier Gives Priority To Algeria

PARIS (AP)—France's new premier today gave rebellious Algeria top priority in his legislative program.

Voted into office after the nation's longest postwar Cabinet crisis, Felix Gaillard told the National Assembly he would demand adoption of the Algerian home rule bill on which the last government of Maurice Bourgès-Maunoury founded Sept. 30. But Gaillard said he would accept amendments to give greater weight to the votes of French residents.

That might appease the French in Algeria. However, it appeared likely the Arab rebels would reject Gaillard's bill, just as they did Bourgès-Maunoury's. The rebels demand independence.

The 38-year-old financial expert, youngest French government chief since Napoleon Bonaparte, said the second order of business would be to ease the grave financial crisis. He promised a strict 1958 budget and 100 billion francs—238 million dollars—in new taxes, and said he would ask for special financial powers, presumably to cut expenses by decree.

Although he did not mention it in his speech, Gaillard also is expected to seek a loan from the United States or West Germany to meet the acute foreign exchange shortage.

The Assembly accepted Gaillard and a "National Union" Cabinet early today by a vote of 337-173.

The new government contains representatives of all National Assembly parties except the Communists on the extreme left and the Poujadists on the extreme right.

Most observers considered general weariness with the long crisis had far more to do with the parties getting together than the grave problems facing France. Nearly all important party leaders remained outside Gaillard's cabinet.

Gaillard, whose 38th birthday was yesterday, was finance minister in the last government.

Gov. Meyner Beats Man Backed by Ike

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner's national political stock hit a new high today after his resounding reelection victory over a Republican candidate who ran with President Eisenhower's full backing.

With 4,039 of New Jersey's 4,219 districts reported in yesterday's election, Meyner led State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes 1,054,561 to 854,609.

Meyner's plurality of 200,000 votes in a normally Republican state was sure to add to his stature as a possible Democratic presidential or vice presidential candidate in 1960. Only minutes after Forbes conceded defeat at 11:13 p. m., some GOP leaders were seeing national issues as a partial cause of Meyner's victory.

But even more surprising than the size of Meyner's plurality was a stunning Democratic sweep of the State Assembly, which the Republicans have controlled for 20 years. The Republicans held on to the State Senate by a reduced margin.

About the only contest the GOP could view with cheer was the election of Milton W. Glenn to Congress as representative from the 2nd District, filling out the unexpired term of the late Republican Rep. T. Millet Hand.

Eisenhower's endorsement of Forbes at a news conference last week failed to transfer the 700,000 vote plurality the President racked up in New Jersey last year.

Meyner, who pitched much of his campaign appeal to Republicans and independents, managed to carry several GOP bastions.

The governor said he campaigned solely on state issues, adding, "whatever outside political significance New Jersey's verdict may be deemed to have, I leave entirely to others."

Meyner noted that his campaign was conducted only by himself and fellow New Jerseyans. Several of Eisenhower's top aides, including Vice President Nixon, stumped the state for Forbes.

To Hold Funeral Rites For Film Director

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Many of the film capital's oldtimers are expected to turn out today for the funeral of Charles J. Brabin, early director and husband of Theda Bara, late silent screen vamp.

Brabin, 74, died Sunday of a heart attack. English-born, he directed Miss Bara in many of her films.

Blames Spike Heels

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ladies who don't want their derrieres to wiggle shouldn't wear spike heels, says Dr. Elizabeth S. Austin.

Dr. Austin is an associate clinical professor in the medical school's rehabilitation department at the University of Southern California.

Spike heels, she told the California Academy of General Practice, force the weight to the front of the foot. This taxes muscles and shortens the gait. It also causes a counteracting tendency to lean backward, whereupon the heels go "clunk, clunk, clunk, and certain parts of the body start to wiggle."

Dr. Austin wears medium-height heels.

Pianist Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The seventh marriage of Ervin Nyireghazi, Budapest-born pianist and composer, has ended in divorce.

His wife, Mara, 38, a native of Switzerland, married him only to become an American citizen, the 54-year-old former child prodigy testified yesterday in Superior Court. The couple was married last Dec. 23 and separated last March.

Jews Honor Catholics
NEW YORK (AP)—The Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America has awarded special citations to two Roman Catholic chaplains in the U.S. Army, Col. James B. Murphy and Col. John H. Connelly, for their "devotion to the religious interests of Jewish servicemen and servicewomen under their charge"—the first time Orthodox Judaism has so honored non-Jewish clergymen.

Alex Wilson, Notre Dame track coach, was second in the 800-meter run and third in the 400-meter race in the 1932 Olympics while competing for his native Canada.

Change of Weather Seems To Always Affect Mankind

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A change of weather affects mankind. It always does.

One who loves people can develop a feeling toward the impact of weather on persons.

Sometimes it is good, sometimes bad. Sometimes it is hidden. On me the effect of weather is obvious. The weather is a thing that gives me both an inspiration and a sense of duty. It does to most people.

On a visit to the far Northwest I saw a couple of Douglas fir trees cut down. It was a memorable scene. They made an echo as they fell. As they fell down the hill, they fell across my heart.

All those years of living, even in a tree, must stir an echo.

But the individual death of a tree is not a personal thing, something not missed because you presumed its presence. There came a day when you looked toward it for routine comfort and it had gone. The shelter of the commonplace was no longer there, and the meadow held a mystery.

You look back, and the tree cut down holds the memory of something against the sky. Your eye remembers.

One tree against the forest? How in autumn can a man know his way through the forest except by the trees?

In the colorful wilderness of their falling leaves he feels a kinship knit by their shedding and his eternal human renewal.

There is a feeling of time and timing in this world—on the bough and in the man.

And in the time of falling leaves a man can walk in the wood, admire the scarlet splendor of nature in its final flourish and see the fall of leaves that happy children will rake up with a shout in the age-old game beyond decay.

A man can endure the torment of autumn after autumn—the first time.

id repetitiveness of winter after winter—in the hope that he can enjoy again the fresh agony of spring, year after year, after year.

Connecticut Voters Change Four Mayors

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Connecticut voters ousted three incumbent Democratic mayors and long-time Socialist Mayor Jasper McLevy of Bridgeport in yesterday's municipal elections.

McLevy, a rare political breed as Socialist mayor of a city of 158,000, was seeking his 13th term.

The 79-year-old former roofer was beaten narrowly by Democrat Samuel J. Tedesco, 41, a city judge and former minority leader of the State Senate.

Tedesco, who takes office Nov. 12, won by only 161 votes.

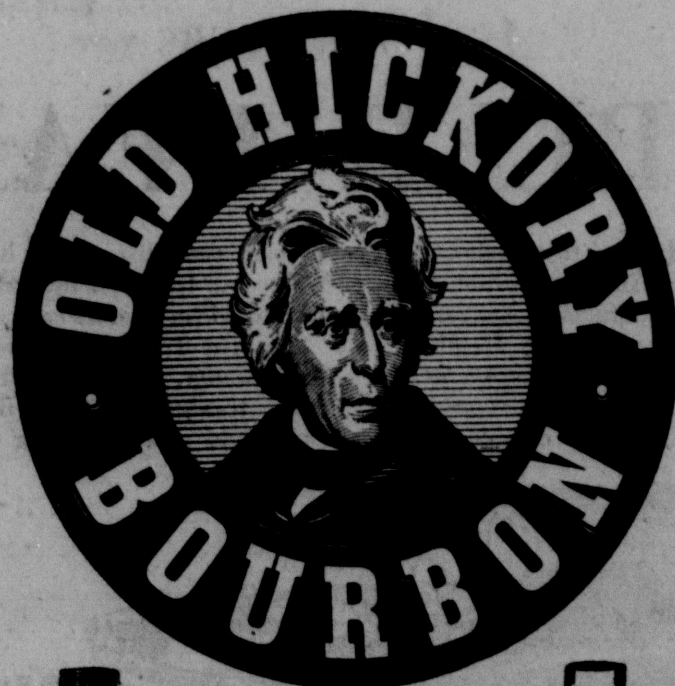

Incumbent Democratic mayors were turned out by voters in Stamford, Waterbury and Norwalk. In New Haven Democratic Mayor Richard C. Lee easily won re-election to a third term over State Rep. Edith Valet Cook, a Republican. Lee is a leading prospect for next year's Democratic U.S. senatorial nomination.

McLevy went into office 24 years ago as a political freak, but his re-elections made him a political phenomenon. In an industrial city with only a few hundred registered Socialist voters, he defeated Republicans and Democrats with equal ease every two years—but only when he ran for mayor.

When he ventured to run for higher office outside the city, as he frequently did, he was beaten soundly. It took him eight tries before he won the mayor's job the first time.

Segregation Platform Wins In Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Democrat J. Lindsay Almond Jr., 59, carried his pledge for a last ditch fight against any race mixing in public schools to a landslide victory for governor in yesterday's Virginia election.

The white-thatched former attorney general, who had the potent backing of the Byrd political organization, easily beat down the second challenge of Republican Ted Dalton.

Dalton lost by a 9 to 5 margin on a program that called for moderation on the schools-race issue. His plan would have substituted for massive resistance a program permitting token integration—enough, he said, to satisfy the requirements of federal court orders.

The Democratic big guns shot at his program constantly. They ridiculed the plan as one that would fight integration by accepting it. The results indicated the shots found the mark, especially in the central and southern areas where the Negro population is substantial to heavy and the Negro vote small.

Wife of Composer Plans to Get Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The wife of Frederick Loewe, 56, says she plans a Nevada divorce from the composer, who turned out the ditties of the Broadway musical "My Fair Lady."

Mrs. Ernestine Loewe, 49, dismissed a separate maintenance suit yesterday. She said Loewe has agreed to pay her $150,000 in cash and $25,000 a year for life. Mrs. Loewe described herself as destitute when she filed the suit last September.

The long estranged couple was married in New York City in 1931.

Hard Sparring Mates

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Ernest Dully, 50, testified he had drunk a little too much when he squared off against three store mannequins. He pleaded guilty in city court to using the dummies as sparring partners. He floored all three.

Dully then crossed the street to another store where he stole a bottle of hand lotion for treatment of bruised knuckles, officers testified. City Recorder Herndon H. Wilson sentenced Dully to 115 days.

Actress Wants Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Nancy Valentine, once married to the Maharajah of Cooch Behar of India, wants to end her marriage to Frederick Tillinghast III, oilman and stockbroker.

She filed suit for divorce yesterday, charging cruelty. Miss Valentine, 29, and Tillinghast, 36, were married last year in a yoga ceremony. She asked for alimony and support for their small daughter.

Wagner Wins Second Term In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Democrat Mayor Robert F. Wagner won a second term last night by 920,000 votes—largest majority ever rolled up for a mayor in the history of the nation's largest city.

The son of the late New Deal senator, Robert F. Wagner Sr., amassed 1,507,342 votes to 587,440 for Republican Robert K. Christenberry, a hotel executive backed by President Eisenhower.

The size of Wagner's victory was being studied in political circles for possible national implications.

Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman was quick to say it reflected voter disillusionment with "the form of Republicanism you see in Washington under President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon." Other Democratic leaders spoke in similar vein.

The triumph raised the question whether Democratic leaders would call upon Wagner to strive for higher office although he has said the "God willing" he will serve out his four-year term as mayor.

Wagner captured every one of the city's five boroughs and ran particularly well in Manhattan's predominantly Negro Harlem section.

Political circles had awaited the Harlem outcome with special interest to see whether its normal Democratic majorities would be reduced by the efforts of Democratic Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas to block school integration in Little Rock.

The mayor's margin in Harlem was about 4 to 1, compared with Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson's edge of about 2 to 1 in the same area in the last presidential campaign.

Senate Group Will Start Missile Query

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee moved today to bring out any conspiracy remaining in the United States missile program as President Eisenhower hurried a report on the nation's progress.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas announced yesterday the Senate Preparedness subcommittee he heads will launch a hard-hitting inquiry into the missile and satellite programs this month. Its purpose will be not to assess blame for delays, he said, but to help correct the "errors" he said have caused U.S. efforts in the rocketry field to lag behind those of Russia.

About the same time, the White House in a quick change of plans announced that Eisenhower will address the nation by television and radio Thursday night on "science and security." He had scheduled a speech on that subject a week later, Nov. 13, in Oklahoma City.

Eisenhower was expected to try to relieve anxiety and reply to criticisms that have developed since Russia launched the first earth satellite—since followed by a second—a month ago.

Johnson formally announced the expected probe at a news conference. He said a starting date and detailed procedures have not been worked out, but forecast an early start.

Johnson said "we are lagging in both satellite and missile programs, but there is no reason to believe we can't catch up if we apply the necessary willpower, manpower and money to the problems involved."

He said he was convinced of that after a lengthy Pentagon briefing Monday which he attended along with Sens. Russell (D-Ga) and Bridges (R-NH).

Eisenhower's half-hour speech on Thursday will be carried live by CBS radio and television at 8 p.m. (EST). ABC-TV will carry a kinescope of it at 10:30 and NBC at 11:15. The other radio networks also will carry delayed broadcasts.

In announcing plans for the address, the White House said Eisenhower canceled his scheduled news conference today because he "will cover much of the same ground in his address to the people as would be developed in press conference replies."

The White House announcement did not mention that the Thursday speech will coincide with the 40th anniversary of the Russian Communist revolution, which is being celebrated in Moscow.

Johnson said he is more concerned with overcoming the Soviet lead in technology than he is with equalling the feat of sending an artificial "moon" aloft.

Probable Democratic Presidential Nominee

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sen. Symington (D-Mo) was voted the probable Democratic nominee for President in 1960 in a poll here of more than 500 bankers from 18 states.

Sputnik II Visible

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Russia's dog-carrying satellite was clearly visible today to many observers in this area. It was described as brighter than the rocket of Sputnik I.

Seventeen observers of the "Operation Moonwatch" atop a downtown building reported they had a good long look at the satellite, which came into view at 5:42 a.m., about four minutes earlier than expected.

Many cruising police officers and others throughout the area reported similar sightings.

The official Moonwatch observers obtained a synchronized time fix on the space rocket and will report on it to the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass.

Persons in several Southern Illinois towns reported sightings.

WAFB Wing Places 19th In Bomb Test

The 340th Bomb Wing of White-man Air Force Base placed 19th out of 45 wings competing in the ninth annual bombing, navigation and reconnaissance contest of the Strategic Air Command that ended Tuesday.

First place went to the 321st Bomb Wing of Pine Castle Air Force Base in Florida, scoring 1,774 points out of a possible 2,000.

Pine Castle, the host base, was awarded the Fairchild Trophy for having the best scores. Each of the first five contenders scored more points than the 1,657 points which won last year.

Winner of the P. T. Colin Trophy for excellence in photo reconnaissance was the 26th Reconnaissance Wing from Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio, with 3,079 points. Just 65 points behind was second place 90th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing of Forbes Air Force Base, Kan., with 3,014 points.

Of the 90 crews representing 45 wings in competition, 66 were flying B47s or RB47s, ten were flying B36s, ten were flying B52s, two were in RAF Vulcans and two were in RAF Valiants. Each crew could score a maximum of 1,000 points and each wing could score a maximum of 2,000 points.

Surgery Needed in Cases Of Harelip, Cleft Palate

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
About one child in 800-2,200 will be born with a gap of the upper lip or a cleft in the hard portion of the mouth. The first of these is called harelip and the second cleft palate. Frequently both are present.

The basic condition is the failure of the lip or palate to unite before the child is born. What is responsible for this failure of normal development, however, is still somewhat uncertain.

There is evidence, however, that if the mother acquires German measles during the first three months of pregnancy, congenital defects of this sort are more likely to occur.

Indeed, there have been reports that any exceptional stress for the mother, particularly early in pregnancy, may increase the chance that the child will have some disturbance of this nature. If this theory can be proved, it may furnish the clue to prevention.

Although the cause remains uncertain, all are agreed that harelip or cleft palate should be treated by surgery and that this must be followed by skilled dental adjustments, speech training and other postoperative care.

There is some difference of opinion on the age at which surgery should be done. Some favor operation when the child is about four years old, but others feel that it should be done earlier in life.

"The cleft palate is repaired," this report states, "when the patient reaches 20 pounds, is in satisfactory condition and is approximately 14 months of age."

One report based on 1,034 children who were operated on for cleft palate over a 10-year period at a single institution and by the same surgeon, favored early operation.

Regardless of the age when operation is performed satisfactory aftercare is essential. Speech guidance is important. When properly instructed, the parents can do much to help.

But the parents cannot help much with the bite of the teeth. Thus the dental and orthodontic care should be provided by specialists in those fields.

The parents of a child with a harelip or cleft palate should make sure that the youngster gets expert care early in life and they should follow closely the recommendations for treatment.

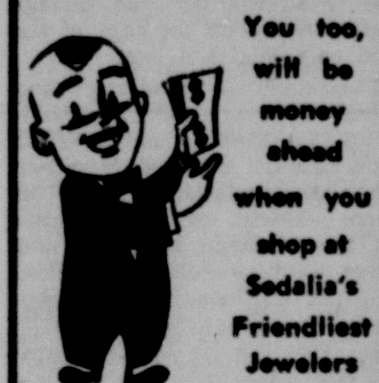

A child who is not treated would not only have dental difficulty and serious speech troubles, but also would suffer severe psychological problems. Indeed, the psychological aspects are exceedingly important, since even with a successful operation a youngster has a slight scar in most instances.

An excellent pamphlet for parents called "About Children With Cleft Lips and Cleft Palates" has been prepared by and can be obtained from The Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., 1107 North Front St., Harrisburg, Pa. (Price, 20 cents.)

It's A Cat-astrophy

Ike is going on the air to explain things. The administration is going to take a new look at the current international situation arising out of Russia's launching of sputniks.

People are just naturally on edge to the extent they are once more seeing flying saucers and illuminated objects which foul up automobile ignitions. Dog lovers everywhere are howling because a canine was launched into space. Humane societies and tail wagers organizations have written the Reds.

Up until now we haven't heard one protest from the American Feline Society which really has a legitimate gripe. Russian propagandists may not realize it but they did the cat organization a dirty trick by launching sputnik November 3, the exact date on which began the observance of International Cat Week. The feline society had been planning two years for International Cat Week after four years of clamoring by members of the society all over the world to have this observance internationalized.

Membership in the feline society extends beyond the iron curtain so it cannot be said the Russians were unaware of the long range plans for Cat Week. Nevertheless the Reds were in character again by trying to make someone uncomfortable — this time the cat lovers, by giving a dog so much world-wide recognition and thus overshadowing the well planned promotion for observance of Cat Week.

So far we haven't heard cat mentioned one time this week all because of that poor dog up there in Sputnik II. It shouldn't have happened to a dog — nor a cat neither.

But since the cat must play second fiddle this week we hope the little dog laughs to see such sport when the Russians toss a cow over the moon tomorrow on their 40th anniversary.

Anyhow, a salute to the Cats during this week regardless of those dratted satellites.

And better luck next time for a Sedalia bond issue. Let's see what we can do about the schools in January. Some say they wanted to vote for that proposal in preference to the municipal civic center and fire stations anyway. That will be their chance soon.

Meow! This is Cat Week.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Nixon Has Coup in Knowland Campaign

By DREW PEARSON

LOS ANGELES — Honest but pachydermic Senator Bill Knowland may not realize it, but his fellow Californian, Dick Nixon, has executed the most brilliant political coup d'état of this generation. The final touches of that coup are being signed and sealed at the White House this week.

Even the politicos who don't like Nixon are nodding their heads in begrudging admiration.

With one stroke, he has won the preliminary support of Knowland, the leader of the Taft forces, for Nixon's own nomination for President. With the same stroke, he has probably eliminated Knowland as a candidate altogether.

For if Knowland doesn't win over popular Democrat Pat Brown in the race for Governor of California — and he probably won't — he has eliminated himself as a competent vote-getter and a serious contender for the presidency.

When you realize that Knowland is resigning from the Senate and from the Republican Senate leadership, one of the most coveted posts in Washington, for the express purpose of boosting his ambition to be President, you can understand the brilliance of Nixon's strategy.

When you also recall that the old Taft Conservative Wing of the GOP was getting more and more fed up with Nixon's stand for foreign aid, for the use of troops at Little Rock, and his difference with the White House over Sputnik, you get a double realization of Nixon's political brilliance. For Bill Knowland, the honest, ponderous conservative was the idol of the Taft followers and the certain inheritor of their support.

Nixon Forced Knight Change

Nixon scored this double victory by euchering Gov. Goodwin Knight into running for the Senate instead of opposing Knowland for Governor of California and getting a commitment from Knowland in return that he wouldn't campaign for President in the Republican primaries.

This may sound like a minor concession. Actually, it's a major one. Last year, before Eisenhower announced as a candidate, Knowland had already entered several primaries, for his strength was and still is with grass roots leaders. The Taft forces are potent in the grass roots. They dominate the primaries and the party conventions. They almost nominated Taft over Eisenhower despite his great popularity and military prestige in 1952.

In 1960, Knowland would have had their 100 per cent support had he put his name in the primaries. Now he won't. With no name but Nixon's entered, he goes to the 1960 convention with practically all of the delegates, the sure winner of the GOP nomination.

Knight Learned Money Talks

The great crisis in Dick Nixon's bid for the vice presidency took place in a California TV studio on October 1952, when he went before the American public to explain why he had taken an $18,000 personal expense fund from California businessmen for many of whom he had done personal favors.

He staged a masterful performance, used all the gimmicks he had learned as a student of dramatics at Whittier College.

Public reaction voted its approval and Nixon became Vice President. The crisis in Dick Nixon's bid for the highest office in the United States, was also staged in California, but it was manipulated not before television but very quietly in the offices of the banking houses, the publishers and those who control the political purse-strings and the political opinion so necessary to attain high office in California.

Goody Knight was not an easy man to push out of running for Governor again. He had his heart set on it, had said over and over again that he would run. He had been a good Governor and a popular Governor. California precedent said that he should run for re-election.

However, he had come out against any "right to work law" and had been a strong friend of labor. Several top California businessmen were unhappy. Others, however, were still strong for Goody.

At this point, Nixon and friends began putting on the squeeze. They applied it in three ways: 1. — Governor Knight was brain-washed. Political polls were taken, showing that he would lose. In some of the polls, Knight trailed Knowland by 2 to 1. He was told that he should not spoil his political career by a crushing, inglorious defeat.

2. — Financial support was withdrawn. Jerd Sullivan, of the Crocker-Anglo First National Bank in San Francisco, Knight's previous finance director, began to show signs of cold feet. Charlie Blythe, the investment banker and a strong supporter of Goody Knight's, had a change of heart. Howard Ahmanson, the Los Angeles Savings and Loan mogul, washed out. Justin Dart, head of the Rexall Drug chain, pulled out on Knight.

In California politics, big money talks. It talks loud and it talks long. It took well over a million dollars to finance Nixon's campaign against Helen Gahagan Douglas for the Senate in 1950. Money also poured into Governor Warren's campaign to defeat Jimmy Roosevelt in the same year.

Governor Knight, an experienced politician, knew he was out of luck without campaign funds. He knew also that labor could never raise enough to counter-balance that from big business.

3. — Knight lost newspaper support. There are only about half a dozen non-Republican papers in the state of California. And suddenly the big publishers switched. Almost overnight Knight found that some of the biggest moulders of California opinion wanted him to run for the Senate, not for Governor.

Even so, Knight wavered. Disappointed, embittered, and so sick at heart that he hid out in a friend's home in Phoenix, Ariz., he demanded concessions in return for his retreat. He demanded that Knowland retire from the Senate after the California primaries so that he, Knight, could be appointed to the Senate and thus run as a "sitting Senator." He also demanded that no other Republican oppose him for the Senate and that the entire package be blessed publicly by President Eisenhower.

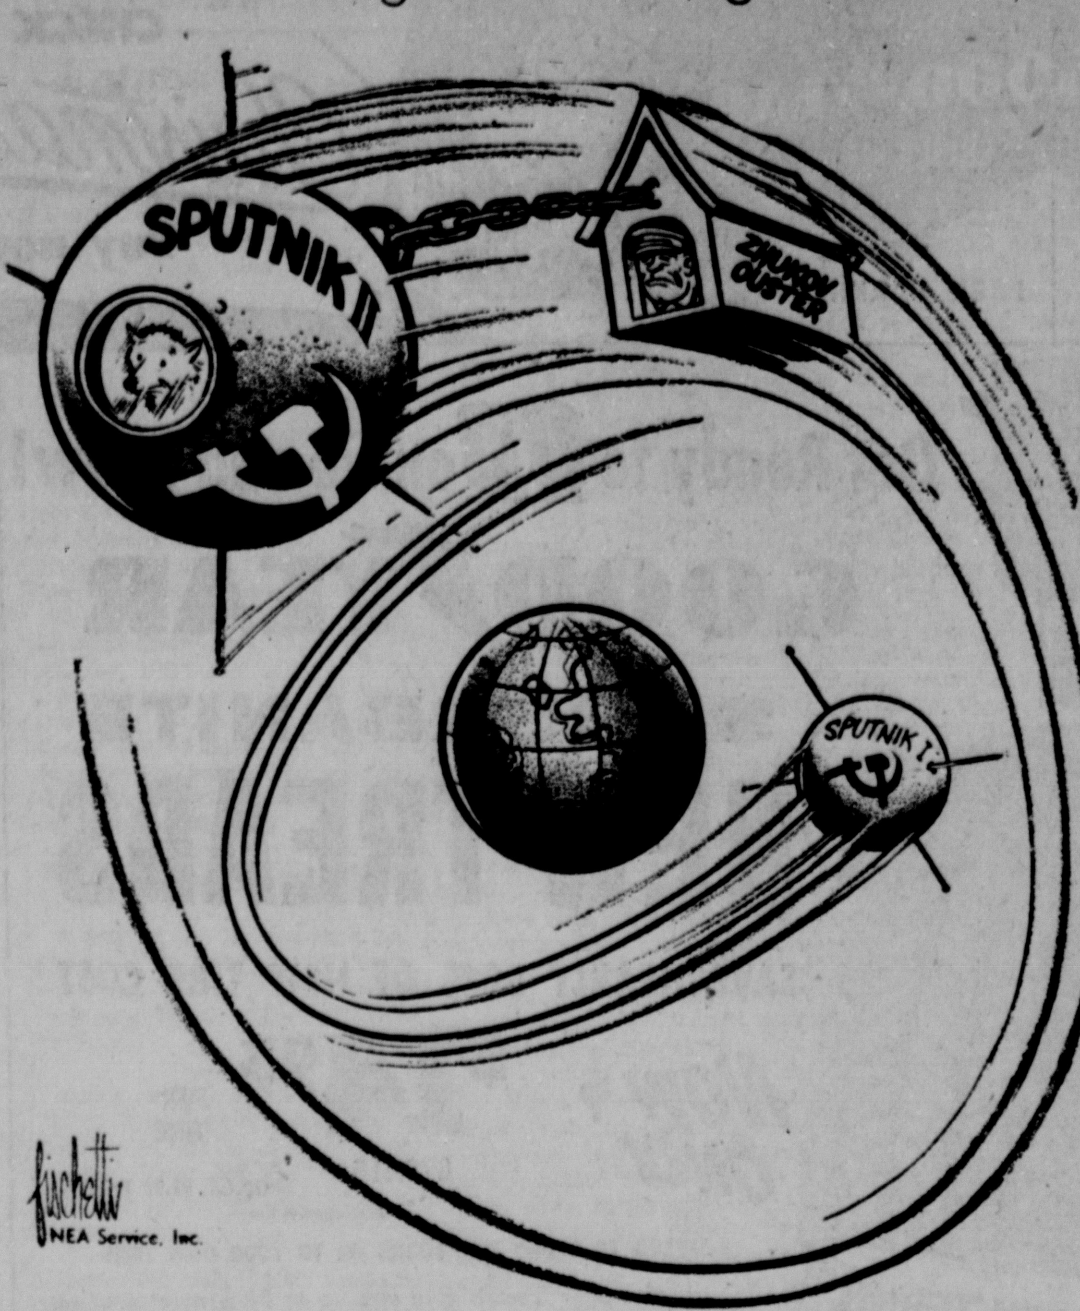

Knight was under great pressure — even while in hiding. Some of his advisers wanted him to yield gracefully, some wanted him to kick over the Republican traces and run as a Democrat.

At one point he almost did. Had Joe De Silva, head of the Retail Clerks, most potent local in Southern California, been able to get any Democratic support, its possible Knight would have run as a Democrat.

He waited until the last minute, however, and then handed Dick Nixon, the man he hated and whom he had denounced at the San Francisco convention in 1956, a political coup d'état which practically assures Nixon the presidential nomination in 1960.

Russians Call Tune, This Nation Dances

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It's an old story, at least 10 years old. The Russians call the tune and this country dances. They act and we react. It's happening again.

The Russians sent two Sputniks into the sky, more evidence of their amazing progress. A tremendous American reaction, by now familiar, sets in: a great national desire to do something to offset the Russians.

It started in 1947 when Greece and Turkey, pressured by Russia, asked this country for aid. This country gave them the help in a new American policy called the Truman Doctrine.

It was the end of two postwar years of trying to work things out peacefully with Russia and the beginning of a program of trying to contain communism within its borders.

That same year President Truman proposed the Marshall plan for Western Europe. This was, to a degree, a reaction to aggressive communism. If Europe wasn't helped to its feet, the Communists would have fertile field.

But 1948 was the big year, although for years afterward one American move after another was the result of something the Communists did.

Early that year Russia grabbed control of all Eastern Europe when Communists seized power in Czechoslovakia, the only non-Communist country behind the Iron Curtain. This country was profoundly shocked.

The Russians kept up the pressure, tried to push the West out of Berlin with a blockade. The answer to that was the Berlin Airlift which broke the blockade. Russia's ugly designs were clear enough now.

This country set up a draft law. The Senate authorized American alliances, the first in peacetime. In 1949 the United States joined with Canada and the West European countries in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

That year this country suffered another gigantic shock. The Russians set off their first atomic explosion on Sept. 23. This country hadn't up to then decided to make the even greater hydrogen bomb. But if we didn't do it, the Russians would. That could be expected. On Jan. 31, 1950 Truman ordered the hydrogen bomb developed. On Nov. 1, 1952 this country had its first hydrogen explosion. We were still ahead of Russia.

But not for long. On Aug. 21, 1953 they had their hydrogen explosion. This was truly a shock. Meanwhile this country had been lagging with its other armaments. But not for long. The Reds attacked in Korea and we reacted by defending Korea. Then this country rushed into more military alliances — with Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Southeast Asia.

The huge American peacetime budgets — are a direct result of an effort at protection against Russia.

Even President Eisenhower's

Mid-East program of this year—a policy of helping any country in

—was a result of Russian pressure

in the Middle East.

Sixteen Years Later

Pearl Harbor of Today Lacks Former Bustling Air

By Joseph A. Dear
Of Our Washington Bureau

PEARL HARBOR — The day of infamy is nearly sixteen years behind us now, and the mighty Pearl has lost its bustling air.

This still is the headquarters of American power in the Pacific, but the real power is miles away on the sea frontiers of the free world. Big carriers slip in occasionally. Never, though, are more than two major units here at the same time.

Ford Island looks lonely as an atoll. Tugs and small craft maneuver about. There are low-lying subs, and a few destroyers. But the only capital ship in the harbor today is on the bottom.

That's the Arizona, of course. It was hit by one torpedo and seven bombs, and sank in less than 10 minutes. It now is resting in about 50 feet of water directly off its old moorings.

Only 289 of 1,473 aboard at the time of the attack survived. It is estimated that the bodies of 1,102 Americans still remain in the sunken hull. After two divers were lost, and it became apparent the ship could not be raised, the Navy asked next of kin for permission to leave their sons and husbands aboard. And permission was granted.

As a tribute to the men who went down with it, Arizona is regarded as a commissioned ship. An honor guard raises the flag each morning, and lowers it at sunset.

From a platform attached to above water super-structure of the Arizona, you can look toward the cloud-surrounded mountains over which the first Japanese flights came. The nearer skies are very blue, and so are the waters. But every now and then the waters about the ship are discolored by oil seepage from the hull.

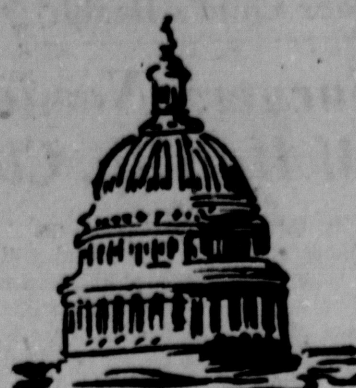

The superstructure from which the platform is suspended is rusting badly now. According to experts, the sea will claim it all within ten years if nothing is done.

That must not happen. How can we expect young Americans to serve today, if we dishonor the memory of those who have served, by thoughtless neglect?

Fortunately, Congress has authorized the Navy to solicit funds to provide a suitable memorial. Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz, who ran the show from Pearl Harbor during the war, will preside over this campaign.

No doubt the Navy will be able to take care of its own. But maybe on this project all of us would like to help a little.

More Legislative Pay Proposal Fanning the Breeze

Although proposals to increase legislative pay in Missouri have been decisively defeated twice in the last year, another attempt is being proposed.

A group of St. Louis businessmen are working on plans for an initiative campaign to put a legislative pay raise proposal on the ballot next year. Although the St. Louis group hasn't definitely decided, it's been reported they plan to ask for a salary of $5,000 to $7,000 a year for state senators and representatives. The lawmakers now receive $1,500 a year.

State Rep. Francis O'Brien (R-St. Louis) said he believed the state would actually save money by paying its legislators more. He said under present conditions, too many bills are being passed without proper study because of "incompetency or neglect."

O'Brien said that as a result of improper study by poorly paid lawmakers, costly mistakes are made by the legislature which either have to be corrected by further legislation or by court review. O'Brien said the public would get younger, more aggressive lawmakers if the legislative pay was higher. Under the present set up, the St. Louis lawmaker said, only about 50 of 157 House members know what is going on in the legislature—"the rest are permanently confused."

Another legislator, Rep. Warren Hearn, Democrat, floor leader, said he believes the St. Louis group is working on the wrong track by proposing legislative pay as high as $7,500 a year. The people have already turned down the idea of higher pay two times, Hearn said.

The majority floor leader said he believed most legislators would be better off financially if they received say $300 a month while the General Assembly is meeting and a smaller sum in off-session times. "That's when I need the money," Hearn said, when I can't work because I'm attending the session.

Hearn said he also thought the public would be more sympathetic toward higher pay for legislators in the months they serve in Jefferson City than for their entire terms.

But it's obvious that public sympathy toward the state lawmakers is the desired goal. In the 1956 general election, a proposal to permit the legislature to set its own salaries was defeated by a vote of 357,333 for, 664,252 opposed. Last April 2, the people turned down a proposal to increase legislative pay to $300 a month year-round by a vote of 192,856 for, 279,829 against.

St. Louis Judge Files
11 Months Too Early

Although the 1958 elections are nearly a year away, a St. Louis circuit judge has the distinction of being the first office seeker to file his candidacy.

James F. Nangle, judge of the eighth judicial circuit of St. Louis, filed his candidacy under the non-partisan court plan Oct. 15 at the office of the secretary of state.

Will Davis, chief clerk, said the deadline for filing for candidates under the non-partisan court plan is 60 days prior to the general election. That meant Nangle was about 11 months early.

The deadline for filing for political office is the last Tuesday in April—April 29. It was expected that any filings would come in early since in areas where voting machines are used, the first candidates get the top position on the voting machine ballots.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieff-nbacher, D.D.

A storm at sea stirs up the waters and heaves up great waves which spread out over vast areas.

In time these waves reach the shore and beat on the firm rocks and relatively solid land. The sands are shifted and the shoreline is altered, but the change merely rescallops the edge of the land on which man lives.

The human storms of anger and hatred which are stirred up within us have their undulating effect on others far removed from our immediate contacts. Those on whom we vent our tempers take out their feelings on others who affect still more of their associates.

In the long run we may not change the solidity of the love of humankind, but we do cut swaths into their peace. We must find the love of God so that we shall not alter even the shoreline of God's peace among men with our emotional storms.

Recovered From Flu Attack, Tigers Face New Opponent

By Stan Jones

Tonight the Smith-Cotton Tigers will go back into the thick of the fight for the CMO conference championship after a week off to recuperate from the flu. They face a new conference member, Mexico, who has a conference record of one win and three losses.

As this will be our first encounter with them, little is known about their style of playing, but we do know that they have two hefty men at tackle, one at 230 pounds and one at 185. Another 230-pounder is on the bench. The backfield is also on the heavy side, with two men over 180.

Last week, while the Tigers were resting due to a cancelled game with Raytown, the Mexico Bulldogs were battling the Pirates of Hannibal on a mud soaked field, at Mexico. The Pirates won the game by a score of 26-13. Early in the game Hannibal got two breaks which they capitalized on for two touchdowns.

Bob Newman Is New Leader in Offense For Major Colleges

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Newman of Washington State College is major college football's new individual offense leader, moving into first place with 1,001 yards made on the ground and through the air.

Statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau show the Cougars' quarterback jumped from sixth a week ago to the top spot by gaining 277 yards against Oregon State last week. He completed 17 of 25 passes for 243 yards and three touchdowns but Washington State bowed, 39-25.

The junior from El Cerrito, Calif., also ranks second to Furman's Billy Baker in pass completions, trailing by one.

Colorado's Bob Stransky remains the country's rushing leader for the third straight week.

Bob Winters of Utah State is second in total offense with 974 yards and Stransky, who has picked up 764 yards rushing, is third with 958.

Furman's Baker has accounted for 70 completions, good for 709 yards and a 609 percentage while Newman has hit the target 69 yards for 912 yards and 532 mark. Winters ranks third with 68 completed throws.

Iowa State's Dwight Nichols ranks sixth in total offense with 863 yards.

Michigan State's girls' tennis team played three matches in 1957 and won each by a shutout.

Western Auto Team To Play Smithton

A newly formed basketball team sponsored by Cliff Barr's Western Auto Store will play its opening game of the season against the Smithton independent team tonight at Smithton at 8:30.

Sacred Heart Is Trowned By Cole Camp

Sacred Heart was trounced in basketball at Cole Camp Tuesday night in a Pettis-Benton County Activities Association 66 to 35 in boys' basketball and 42-14 in the girls' volleyball.

Cole Camp, sparked by Ragland, who fired in five goals and eight free throws to lead the scoring, jumped to an early lead, never to be threatened the remainder of the game. Ressel of the Gremlins led his team with five goals and five free throws for a total 15 points.

Opening the first quarter with 15 to Sacred Heart's eight points, the Cole Camp players added another 15 in the second quarter to the locals' nine, for a halftime lead of 30 to 17. In the third period Cole Camp poured on the steam and scored 25 points to the Grems' six, added 11 more in the fourth to 12, for a game total of 66-35.

The girls' volleyball team fell behind on a quick attack by Cole Camp, and the Benton County aggregation was, like the boys, never threatened.

Smithton jumped to a first quarter lead of 19 to 8, scored 13 to 1 in the second for a halftime score of 32 to 9. In the third quarter the Tigers scored 11 to 2 while in the final stanza the Shamrocks outscored their opponents for the first time 14 to 10.

In the girls game Lowry led Houstonia in scoring with 17 points. Hillenberg was high for Smithton with five points.

Missouri vs. Oklahoma

Big 8 Conference, Orange Bowl Berth Are at Stake

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Big Eight Conference football title and the rich reward of an Orange Bowl berth will be set up for grabs at Columbia Saturday in the game between Missouri and Oklahoma.

Both teams are undefeated in conference games. Missouri has won three and Oklahoma four. The Sooners, however, are undefeated and untied in their last 46 games. Missouri shows a 5-1 overall record this season.

While Missouri and Oklahoma are in effect settling the question of first and second place in the Big Eight, Kansas State plays Kansas at Lawrence in a renewal of their intrastate rivalry and Nebraska goes to Iowa State.

Colorado plays at Colorado State and Oklahoma State meets Wyoming at Stillwater — both non-league games.

The Iowa State-Nebraska game will be televised in the Big Eight area.

setback at the hands of Texas A&M, currently the top ranked team in the Associated Press poll. The Tigers got a 7-7 tie with Vanderbilt in their opening game, played in rain and on a muddy field.

Missouri would appear to be a strong threat to the Sooners on the basis of comparative performances.

Bud Wilkinson's team shaded Colorado 14-13 while Missouri beat the Buffs 9-6.

Oklahoma also had to struggle for a 13-9 victory over Kansas State.

The Sooners have yet to show the explosive offense of previous years and while their defense has been tight it has been penetrated with greater ease and more often.

The Sooners demonstrated their concern yesterday as the players asked Wilkinson to let them hold an offensive scrimmage, their first since the opening game against Pittsburgh.

Missouri also worked on its offensive game.

Coach Frank Broyles said "of course our big problem is to stop Oklahoma." But he pointed out that if Missouri did stop the Sooners his Tiger squad would not accomplish anything unless it could move the ball.

Star to Quit Stage Play

By BOB THOMAS
NEW YORK —One of the great marriages of American entertainment—Rosalind Russell and an auntie named Mame—could go on forever. But Roz is holding it down to two years.
"Auntie Mame" has been a top ticket on Broadway ever since it opened a year ago. Miss Russell is bowing out of the New York run in just 11 weeks though she could remain as long as she wanted.
Her reasoning: "It's a tremendously exhausting show. By the time we finish the movie next June, it will be almost two years that I have been working with Mame. In August of 1956 we first started working with the script. "It has been a wonderful experience, but good heavens how long can you continue playing one character?"
As long as she wants, say the ticket agents. But Roz has other ideas. She has never been one for standing still. She played an endless procession of professional women in films.
She broke out to come back to Broadway in a musical, "Wonderful Town." Her latest film, "Picnic," portrayed her as a love-starved, man-roping school teacher.
On St. Patrick's Day next year, she'll begin the film version of "Mame" for Warner Brothers. Then she and husband Fred Brisson will head for a lengthy vacation to Europe. What then?
"Perhaps another play," she said. "I've had a lot of scripts offered to me, but once again, I want to do something different. "It's the same way with the pictures. When you get to be my age, it's not easy to find good parts. But I'll play anything—mothers, aunts, old maids—as long as they're interesting."

One of the things she likes about doing the show is that she sees everyone she knows.
"In Hollywood, you see maybe one or two people you know in the course of shooting a movie," she said. "Here, you see everyone, even your old schoolteachers."
Her major problem in that regard is the six seats she gets for just such visitors at every performance. Because of the duets, which she pays for, she must hire a secretary to handle the calls, which average eight to arrange each pair.
